COMMENTS FROM THE TOWN MANAGER'S OFFICE

The firemen have very nearly completed renovations at the Fire Station. They have enlarged the kitchen, added a bathroom and a storage area. A new gas commercial cook stove has been ordered to replace the small electric one. The firemen and auxiliary are using funds they have earned with various projects to purchase the stove.

As was announced last week we plan to make town trucks available to haul rubbish the week of May 6th. The debris must be in disposable containers at roadside.

The office staff is preparing themselves for the new method of motor vehicle registration which will be effective with the 1975 registrations. There will be staggered dates of expiration depending upon the number on the license plate. The first year some will pay excise tax on a short period of time and others will have to pay for a full year. The cost of license plates will also vary the first year.

TOXIC CHEMICAL FUMES CAN MAKE SPRINGTIME BOAT REPAIRS DANGEROUS

Toxic chemical fumes can make springtime boat repairs a dangerous project. For example, boat owners using a blow torch to burn anti-algal paint from boat bottoms are also exposing themselves to mercury, arsenic or lead compounds vaporized in the old paint. Inhalation of these vapors can cause a variety of harmful side effects, possibly death.

Harry Schacht, an Industrial Hygienist, for the Maine Department of Health and Welfare describes this, and other potentially dangerous situations the boatowner should keep in mind when getting his boat ready for the summer.

He warns that using any plastic coatings containing "methyl ethyl ketone peroxide" (commonly called MEK) is also dangerous. MEK can produce painful burns on the skin and it is flammable.

Commonly used turpentine is highly toxic and is readily absorbed through the skin, or by breathing the fumes. Prolonged exposure can cause nephritis, a kidney ailment. Mild exposure to the fumes can cause dizziness, making it dangerous to drive shortly after exposure.

Solvents containing naphtha or naphtha derivatives can be especially dangerous. Inhaling the fumes can cause a variety of effects ranging from symptoms similar to acute alcoholism to serious internal or organ injury after prolonged exposure.

Running a motor in a small unventilated boathouse, workshop or garage to tune it, can lead to serious trouble. Even if the person does not inhale enough carbon monoxide to make him sick immediately, Schacht warns that he may experience symptoms such as slight dizziness or blurred vision. If a person attempts to drive shortly after exposure, even for a short distance, his judgment and reflexes can be impaired enough to cause an accident.

When scraping old paint from boats, keep small children away from the work area. Most marine paints contain lead, due to its weathering properties when used in water. Many children have a habit of putting non-toxic objects in their mouths, as adult may also do.

"FOOTPRINTS IN STONE" AT BRYANT POND BAPTIST CHURCH SUNDAY, APRIL 21

An exciting new documentary movie entitled "Footprints In Stone" will be shown at the Bryant Pond Baptist Church on Sunday, April 21, at 7:30 p. m.

Produced by Films for Christ Association, "Footprints In Stone" depicts a research team's battle to learn the secrets of the Paluxy Tex. as' fast flowing river. Bulldozing, sandbagging, flash floods and the colorful narrative of old timers add to the excitement and interest of this outstanding documentary film. However, the high point is the team's discovery of man tracks in the same stratum with dinosaur tracks. Many scientists say this amazing find shatters the evolutionary time table as presently accepted and taught in textbooks throughout the country.

Although the standard geological timetable of evolution says that man did not evolve until after dinosaurs had been extinct for some 70 million years, the Biblical account of Creation states that man and animals were all created by God during the Divine Creation Week, six days and our hominoid fossils are being created on the fourth day of the contemporary existence of man and dinosaurs as attestation of the accuracy of the Genesis record.

Everyone interested in the Bible and science will want to see this film.

It ends, fundamentally, with a start minding on the subject of plant chips, it can cause food poisoning, which can have severe consequences at early ages.

Schacht advises boatowners to be following three simple safety steps, these potentially dangerous situations can be avoided: 1. Keep the work area well ventilated. 2. Wear rubber gloves. 3. Wash hands immediately after using any materials. 3. Keep the work area clean and pick up as you go. Children and unsuspecting adults will not be harmed. By taking these precautions, enjoying the boat in the summer will not be a dangerous task.

Oxford County Commissioners
South Paris, Maine

Dear Sirs:

Please consider this a request that you investigate, what I consider undue delay, on the part of the Board of Selectmen of Bethel, Maine in giving me a definite answer as to when and if the Town will repair the road to my property which is located on the so-called Hodgson Road in East Bethel.

As I have been delayed four months on planned construction of a home as a result of not receiving a decision from the Selectmen, your prompt attention to this matter will be appreciated.

Sincerely,
Danny Long

A coon visited the feeder at Mrs. Clifford Cole's this a. m.

Our visitor from the west, the Oregon Junco, has left us. He was here for only a two day visit to set and get something to eat during the last snow storm.

The Canada Jays have found other food or migrated farther north. They don't come to the feeder for their favorite food. They preferred Frisbie cat food to other foods. The male came quite often and was tamer than the female. The male Canada Jay would eat from Dan's hand.

Well, I guess spring is really here. A pair of purple martins have returned to their little blue home in Gilead. Their home is a little blue birdhouse out back of Clifford Cole's.

FURNITURE WORKERS ELECT CONVENTION DELEGATES

Members of Local 77 of the United Furniture Workers of America (AFL-CIO) have elected Basil Greene, Ethel Martin; alternates Joseph Herbert Jr., and Lloyd Cole to represent their local at the Union's Eighteenth Constitutional Convention, which will be held at the Seelbach Hotel in Louisville, Ky., from June 10 through June 14.

With more than 200 delegates in attendance from all parts of the nation, the biennial gathering will develop the plans and program that will determine the Union's policies for the next two years.

"These are crucial times when the average American has watched his real spendable earnings shrink sharply," UFWA International President Carl Seabrook declared. "The cost of living has skyrocketed, and while controls of profits and dividends have neither been direct nor effective, wages of American workers have been subject to strict control."

Among "critical issues" that will challenge the Union's delegates, Seabrook cited the "urgent need to elect Congressmen who will override such Presidential vetoes of legislation to help working people and middle income people."

A group of leaders from the trade union movement, including George Meany, President of the AFL-CIO, the government and the civil rights movement will be invited guests at the Convention, bringing their "expertise" to assist the UFWA delegates.

Mr. and Mrs. John Barnes of Malden, Mass., spent the week end with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Waldron. Gertrude Waldron and Louise Scribner are spending a few days at the Waldron home from their teaching positions at East Millinocket. Mr. and Mrs. Richard Waldron arrived Monday to visit a few days with his parents.

GREENWOOD CITY

—Mrs. Cathie Morgan, Corres.—

For a while the earth emerged from the snow displaying her fields of green with bits of green. The colors were wonderful, coming from the east green from the slopes and ledges when the sun was bright. It gathered in spots where the snow melted. The quiet winter was melting away. Then another snow storm it was white again, a great landscape of snow blanketing over the town, riding hills and farms. All day against the house the wind rattled and blew from the wind. Typical April weather here. When the weather breaks and the sun again shines it will be spring with change and new beginnings. I can then walk across pastures or sit in a sun-warmed seat in an opening in the hillside meadow. I hope, which I haven't been able to do for the past two weeks.

Another flock of Canada Geese have passed over, northward, and two flocks, following up, have been at home.

It is good to again hear the soft wings salute us each morning.

A song sparrow suddenly perched on the sill along the day of the dawn when I stepped out with bird seed. I wondered what he had to do that day. Maybe because he was awaiting a good breakfast.

The flicker has returned, conspicuously dressed in black and white above and spotted beneath. There is a black crescent on the lower back and a scarlet patch on the crown. When it flies a golden flash shows. It is friendly and adaptable. It can tap with the woodpecker on fence with the whistles. It can sing like a crow in a suburban area as it comes across the town through the pale light of the morning mist. These things give us a glimpse but only a glimpse of the many ways birds usually find their way across the world.

Mr. Holt was a bigger guest of the old Mrs. Stanley Morgan, who died in Valley.

They had a party, called on her sister, Mrs. Clyde Morgan, in Valley.
